

South East Arts Media Release

For immediate release

4th February 2015

Bega Art Prize Pops Up in Moruya

South East Arts has partnered with the Bega Valley Regional gallery to bring selected works from the recent 2014 Bega Art Prize to Moruya for a 'Pop Up' exhibition at the Mechanic's Institute, this weekend.

"We identified an opportunity to travel the Bega Art prize to be on display at our South East Arts 2015 Program Launch this Friday at 5pm. People are welcome to come along and find out about our exciting program for this year and see the Bega Art Prize 'Pop Up' at the same time", said Andrew Gray of South East Arts.

The Bega Art prize 'Pop Up' will be on display over the weekend, opening this Friday 5-7pm, Saturday 9-12noon and Sunday 11-3pm

"Collaborating with South East Arts to bring the Bega Art Prize to Moruya is an exciting opportunity that extends the reach of the Bega Valley Regional Gallery from it's home in Bega to the wider region. We hope to do this more often as we are a regional gallery in name and now also in nature", enthused Iain Dawson, Curator at the BVRG.

The Bega Art Prize is open to all visual artists in the South East region and showcases the breadth of talented practicing artists the reside in the Eurobodalla, Bega Valley, Cooma-Monaro, Snowy River and Bombala shires.

-ENDS-

Media contact: email seainfo@southeastarts.org.au.

-Ends-

Image: 'Tantawangalo' by Kim Falkenmire